Risk characteristics of Fund's assets

Bank deposits

A bank deposit, as an asset class, includes the bank's credit risk and repricing risk at maturity. Repricing risk implies a decrease in interest rate when the deposit is rolled over with the same maturity.

Government Bonds and Treasury Bills

These assets are issued by the Government, agencies or government sponsored enterprises (GSE). However, governments do not fully guarantee the interest payment or the principal. Government bonds and T-bills are subject to interest rate risk and have different credit ratings. T-bills have higher interest rate risk than bonds with the same maturity.

On March 21st, 2025, the international agency “Standard & Poor's” improved Albania's rating to ‘BB’ with a “stable” outlook, from the ‘BB-’ previous rating published in March 2024. Additionally, the international rating agency “Moody's” reaffirm its “Ba3 – stable” rating on the 8th of October 2025. The increase in the credit rating for Albania, decreases the credit risk of the Fund's assets, given that the Fund's assets are invested in financial instruments issued by the Albanian state.

Corporate Bonds

Corporate bonds are debt securities issued by private companies. These instruments carry the credit risk of the issuing company. Such debt securities are assessed as having a higher credit risk than debt securities issued by the Republic of Albania. Moreover, since these securities in which the Fund may invest are not traded on a regulated market, they carry a high liquidity risk. The Fund may invest in corporate securities only when they are issued by banks or non-bank financial institutions, and only for a very small percentage of its assets.
